CONFERENCES & EVENTS

NHS Employers use KwickScreens to create backdrops for events, with logos positioned to be visible behind speakers and for photos. Tideland Health, USA, also use KwickScreens to promote services with bold attention grabbing images.

THE PROBLEM

Conferences and events often require high levels of flexibility and portability with branded promotional materials. Traditional screens and methods of branding can be bulky, heavy and lack flexibility.

THE SOLUTION

KwickScreens are fully portable enabling easy maneuverability and can be used by anyone. Branded images, logos and information can be easily displayed efficiently and over a large 1.9 x 3m surface area, far larger than other screens on the market. Inner panels can be easily zipped in and out and changed depending on the event or use. When shutting down stands the screen can be easily retracted, rolled away and stored with a very small footprint, for a hassle free conference experience. KwickScreens can be placed on stilts, adding 0.5m to the height of the screen

THE BENEFITS

- Small footprint for storage
- Clear branding and imagery
- Light and easily portable
- Interchangeable inner panels for flexibility with design for different events
