“One issue we faced at our gym was there wasn’t a sectioned off area for classes. KwickScreen completely solved both the privacy and partitioning issue, with the sleekness we were looking for.” Anthony Adholla, General Manager at the Gym Group

THE PROBLEM

Open plan sports facilities often lack private areas for classes, or portable practical means for injured athletes.

THE SOLUTION

KwickScreens can be printed with branding and sponsors creating pop-up partitioned areas with flexibility.

At Wimbledon Club Squash Squared Open KwickScreens were used to shield practice courts from the crowds so that players could focus without distractions.

Tottenham stadium use KwickScreen Duos throughout the stadium to section off areas from crowds where there has been an incident or to create privacy when needed.

Pure Gym London use KwickScreens to partition off areas of gyms where classes are taking place and participants require privacy from the rest of the open plan gym space.

London 2012 Olympics – they used 15 portable KwickScreens to create pop-up, private treatment areas for athletes in the Olympic Village.

THE BENEFITS

- Quickly provide privacy and reconfigure spaces
- Display branding and sponsors
- Separating crowds and creating privacy for injured athletes
